Here was an unlookedor circumstance; night was near at hand, hone almost died out in each bosom.

The moon rose clear and bright and beauful, the air was crisp, and the night bitterly Midnight came on space, and still distracted youth remained among the ighest branches of the leafless tree. Vainly the crowd haplored him to come down and receive food and shelter. He continued deaf to the entresty, laughing with all the fee of a maniae at their earnest appeals. A happy thought eventually loomed up, which no time was lost in putting into The throng dispersed, wth the exception of a small number of men who cereted themseives behind trees and logs o be in readiness for whatever emergency might demand their assistance. Then a oung playmate of the crazy boy, to whom ar had always been much attached, stood at the foot of the tree, presented dishes of food, and begged him to come down and get something to cat. This measure finally succeeded. The boy yielded to the temptation, and in a little while once more stood upon the ground. Some of the men quietly stepped from their concealment, secured and carried him home. The poor fellow's hands and face and feet were badly frozen as the result of his fearful exposure for over fifteen hours duof the season. The joy of the friends at the denouement may be imagined. Every attention was paid the poor sufferer that affection could devise, and he is progressing favorably, though his intellect is yet as clouded as before he underwent the dreadful experience of that eventful Saturday, which none who participated in the exciting scene will be likely for many years to forget.

DREN .- [Inter-Ocean letter.] - My nearest neighbor, having seen in the Inter-Ocean an account of the analysis of some syrup which showed the presence of dangerous acids, tried the experiment of putting a teaspoonful of tea in a small sauce-plate of nice-looking white syrup which her family had been in the habit of buying from an honest-dealing grocer. The result was the syrup turned almost black. Alarmed at this revelation, I tried the same experiment on similar syrup in my own house, with precisely similar results. To be sure that there could be no mistake about the test, I melted three kinds of sugar into syrup and tried the tea on each of those syrups, and not one of them changed color. The thought that I have been for weeks feeding a decoction of muriatic acid and old rags to my children, supposing that I was supplying them with wholesome food, makes me shudder even and work is to be commenced at once. The now, and induces me to write this my first City Engineer has already listed the names note to the public press so that others may profit by my experience.

T. Moore, president of the Hibernians, and Mr. R. E. English acted as secretary.

General Moore said he was happy to meet again so many of his friends and countrymen, and members too of the society over which he had the honor to preside. It reminded him, in a measure, of the good old county-court system of Virginia. He had been put in office about three years ago, and still retained the office through the kindness of his friends. [Laughter and applause.] He congratulated the Irish citizens present that they had again assembled to make arrangements for the celebration o St. Patrick's Day. He deemed it eminently proper that these arrangements should be made, and he felt sure that the day would be celebrated in a manner alike creditable to his Irish fellow-citizens as well as to Vir-

On motion of Mr. William English, it was ordered that the Chair appoint a committee of five to draw up a plan, etc., and to revise the by-laws of the Hibernians. The Chair stated that he would appoint this committee in a few days, the committee to report at a meeting to be held on Friday, March 20th, at S1 o'clock. Adjourned.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] WASHINGTON, March 4, 1874. The Centennial and Liquor-Traffic Bills.

The Senate worked vigorously to-day and disposed of the centennial-exposition bill and the liquor-traffic commission bill, the former having been referred to the Appropriation Committee and the latter being fixtures and new stock of drugs, medicines, per- passed. The Senate refuses to allow an appropriation of three millions for the exposipaid to compounding physicians' prescriptions and tion, and there is every probability that the bill as it came from the House will be pigeonholed. Sumner, who has fought the bill steadily, made another speech in opposition to it to-day.

Many believe that before the adjournment Congress will provide for a national celebration under Government auspices.

All the Democrats voting on the liquortraffic bill were opposed to it.

The Financial Discussion will be resumed on Monday, when Logan will address the Senate. The debate seems certain to last through the week, as several senators have prepared speeches on the subject. The pending question is the motion of Senator Buckingham to recommit the bill to the Finance Committee with the instructions proposed by Mr. Merrimon (and already agreed to) that the committee shall report in rency to four bundred millions. The District of Columbia Investifavor of increasing the national bank cur-gation. The joint select committee to inquire into the management of the affairs of the District of Columbia to-day examined Controller Baker and Superintendent of Public Schools J. O. Wilson in reference to appropriations and expenditures for school purposes. Governor Shepherd was also examined upon the same subject, and the testimony of all these gentlemen showed nothing wrong in that branch of the district government.

The memorialists have thus far failed to establish the charges made against the District, and to-day Senator Thurman, acting chairman of the committee, gave notice that the committee had acted thus far under ticket in the MASONIC GIFT ENTERPRISE at their general powers, and might so proceed further but that the time was approaching when the memorialists must make specific charges. Of course, they need not make a whole body of specifications, but they should be prepared with some specifications by Tuesday next, or by Wednesday at the furthest.

[Associated Press Telegrams.] Washington, March 6, 1874. Congressional.

Senate .- Mr. Chandler, from the Commerce Committee, reported a bill authorizing e employment of aliens as pilots and engineers. Placed on the calendar. The centennial bill appropriating $3,000,-000 for the centennial celebration was referred to the Appropriations Committee, where it is considered dead. The bill appointing three commissioners to regulate the trade in liquor was passed. Mr. Scott, from the Finance Committee, reported favorably on Mr. Gordon's bill providing that no instrument or document required to he stamped which was signed within the States of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, or Texas, prior to July 1, 1865, shall be deemed invalid by reason of and starvation is imminent. The relief orthe failure to place stamps thereon. It is,

however, provided by an amendment of the committee that the rights of a purchaser in good faith prior to the passage of this bill shall not be affected by it. The Liquor Bill.

The bill regarding liquor passed the Senate to-day as follows: Be it enacted, &c., That there shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a commission of five persons, neither of whom shall be the holder of any office of profit or trust in the General or State Government. The said commissioners shall be selected solely with reference to personal fitness and capacity for an honest, impartial, and thorough investigation, and shall hold office until their duties shall be accomplished, but not to exceed one year. It shall be their duty to investigate the alcoholic and fermented reference to revenue and taxation in distinguishing as far as possible in the conclusions they arrive at between the effects produced by the use of distilled or spirituous as distinguished from the use of fermented or malt liquors, in their economic, criminal, moral, and scientific aspects in connection with pauperism, criue, social vice, the public health, and general welfare of the people; and also inquire and take testimony as to the practical results of license and restrictive legislation for the prevention of intemperance in the several States, and the effect produced by such legislation upon the consumption of distilled or spirituous liquors and of fermented or malt liquors, and also ascertain whether the evil of drunkenness has been decreased or increased thereby; whether the use of opium as a stimulant and substitute for alcoholic drinks has become more general in consequence of such legislation, and whether public morals has been improved thereby. It shall also be the duly of the said commissioners to gather information and take testimony as to whether the evil of drunkenness exists to the same extent or more so in other civilized countries; and whether those foreign nations that are considered the most temperate in the use of stimulants are so through prohibitory laws, and also to what degree prohibitory legislation has affected the consumption and manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors in this country; that the said commissioners, all of whom shall not be advocates of prohibitory legislation or total abstinence in relation to alcoholic or fermented liquors, shall serve without salary; shall be authorized to employ a secretary at a reasonable compensation, not to exceed $2,000 per year, which, with the necessary expenses incidental to said investigation, not exceeding $10,000, of both the secretary and commissioners, shall be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated upon vouchers to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury; and for this purpose the sum of $10,000 is hereby appropriated. It shall be the further duty of said commissioners to report the result of their investigations and expenses attending the same to the President, to be by him transmitted to Congress.

Shipping Commissioners. The counsel of the Ship-Owners Association of New York has prepared a bill amend-tion, and it was referred to the Commerce Committee. The bill transfers the appointing power to the Secretary of the Treasury, who is also empowered to make all requisite regulations for the enforcement of the law, and authorized, when in his judgment it may seem proper, to combine the office of commissioner with that of collector of customs. It also
